WANTED---HELP.

CITY AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

W. P. Read is in New York attending the annual meeting of the Street Rull-way Superintendents of America.

Another Park City mining operator showed his faith in the future of Salt Lake last week, when John McSooiey, foreman of the Daily-West, paid $20,160 for 254,8725 feet of ground, with the one-story bkuilding, 125 feet east of Main street, on the north side of Second South. The gentleman has already leased it for one year for $1,800.

The Twelfth battery was cut in two last Saturday at Fort Douglas, and the second half became officially the Twenty-second battery, light artillery, Captain Cronkheit commanding. However, there are so many men being discharged for expiration of service that it is said hardly over twenty-five or thirty of the old men will be left in either battery. However, new recruits are expected along any day, and the two commands will be built up to the full strength of 160 men each.

Senator Thomas Kearns is deeply interested in the proposition to reclaim arid land in eastern Utah by means of a canal which will tap the Grand river in western Colorado. C. Fitch of the hydrographic department of the government brought the matter to the senator's attention, and he will do all he can to further the project.

"At the coming session of congress," said Senator Kearns, "I will endeavor to secure an appropriation to cover the cost of surveying a route for the canal, It is not possible to say how long the canal will be, or how much land can be reclaimed until the surveys are made and the reports completed.

"I would like to see the work done at the earliest possible moment, for there is a vast area of land in the eastern part of the state that could be brought under cultivation by irrigation. At present the waters of the Grand river are doing little or no good to anybody.

"As soon as the senate convenes I expect to present my request for the survey appropriation. If the plan is as soon as the senate convenes I expect to present my request for the survey appropriation. If the plan is found to be feasible appropriations for construction work will be asked, and the canal built along the line that will result in the reclamation of the *reatest possible area."

Among recent visitors to the sanctum of the Intermountain Catholic were D. A. Sullivan, representing the Colorado Fuel & Iron company of Pueblo, Colo., and William J. Kenny of De Kalb, Ill. Both gentlemen left together on the train for Pueblo.

Notices of location on about 6,000 acres of land between Sait Lake City and the Great Sait lake, were filed in the office of the county recorder. The land is said to be "upon a valuable bed or deposit of petroleum and other hydracarbons in solid, liquid or gascous form and upon a bed of clay, gravel, sand, gold and other mineral deposits."

It now begins to look as though some It now begins to look as though some of the eastern milling associations would soon have a big grip upon the milling industry of Utah, and once having it, that they will form a combine and endeaver to force such of the Utah millers who do not favor such a policy into line, or out of the bisiness attogether. It is stated upon the most reliable authority that 40 per cent of the mills of Utah are now under bond to eastern mill owners, and that the options, in most cases, at least, will not expire until Jan 1 next.

I shall certainly build an independent smelter in Utah, said Mr. Samuel Newhouse. "This will be to handle the products of my mines and some others associated with me. Venerable Head of the Church of Latter-day Saints Passed Away Thursday Afternoon.

HIS LIFE AND CHARACTER-PROBABLE SUCCESSOR

"With the death of President Snow," said a prominent churchman to the Intermountain Catholic reporter, "the Intermountain Catholic reporter, "the first presidency comprised of the deceased, Joseph F, Smith, Rudgrer Clawson (the latter his counselor only since Sunday last), becomes dissolved. The leadership of the church, therefore, devolves upon the council of twelve Apostles, at whose head is Joseph F, Smith, who, in all human probability, will be the next president of the Church of Latter-day Saints. In the event that he is not made president before the next April conference, the affairs of the church will be conducted by the Council of Twelve.

"One of the principal points in Lorenzo Snow's character." continued the churchman, "was his great business renzo Snow's character," continued the churchman, "was his great business capacity. When Mr. Snow succeeded to the presidency of the church in 1888 it was known to be in financial distress, but under his practical and farseeing administration it was quickly placed upon a sound financial basis and all of its paper quoted above par."

HIS CHARACTER. President Snow's character is so well described in the Deseret News, the or-described in the Deseret News, the organ of the Latter-day Saints, that we are led to produce one paragraph. The News says:

"Fresident Snow's mentality was a rare and varied combination. He was a natural financier, and at the same time a spiritually minded man, of literary tastes and poetic temperament. He was not sanctimonious; he could not be a fanatic or a bigot if he wished. He was too well balanced for that—too broad minded and charitable. He would never persecute a man for his opinions, nor interfere with his religious worship, however much he might disapprove of them. At the
